Munkholmen or Monk's Island lies about twenty minutes' boat journey, from the town of Trondhjem. It was at one time the site of a Benedictine Monastery, founded in 1028 of which the lower part of a round tower is the only relic. In the 17th and 18th centuries it was used as a State Prison, Count Peter Griffendeldt being confined here from 1680—1698.
